

Conclusion

- Source separation helps somehow to identify more background music
- But not much
- And it is slow
- Training a embeddings model robust to the degradation is a more promising path forward

